

Deloitte.

Larry Quinlan is a principal at Deloitte LLP – one of the world’s largest professional services firms with 40,000 people in the United States and 150,000 people in over 100 countries around the world. He sits on the Operating Committee and serves in three major, enterprise-wide roles: Chief Information Officer, National Managing Principal for Process Excellence and Diversity Leader for the Shared Services.

As CIO, Larry has responsibility for technology leadership, strategy, implementation and operations. He leads the 1200+ person Information Technology Services organization and oversees several areas including:

- Knowledge Management technology platforms
- Enterprise Systems
- Technology Strategy
- Technology Operations
- Technology infrastructure
- Software Development
- Client service technology

Larry also has Firm-wide responsibility for Process Excellence. In this role, he leads the enterprise wide effort to increase margins and effectiveness through continuous process improvement using the Lean Six Sigma methodology. Scope includes both internal and client facing processes and the goal is to influence the culture to sustain continuous process improvement in our four major businesses and the shared services organizations.

Larry also serves as the lead diversity principal for the Shared Services organization (Operations, Finance and Technology). He is charged with developing a diversity strategy, leading the diversity council and ensuring that we win the war for talent as well as build a culture of inclusion.

Larry has been with Deloitte since 1988 and has served in a variety of technology and knowledge management positions for Deloitte & Touche and Deloitte Consulting including global CIO for Deloitte Consulting.

Larry holds an MBA and a BS in Industrial Management.

Larry has been widely quoted including in major publications including the Wall Street Journal and InformationWeek and has also spoken at major events. He has been honored by institutions and publications including Computerworld (2007 Premier 100 IT Leaders), Harlem YMCA (2000 Black Achiever in Industry) and Black MBA Magazine (2005 Top 50 Under 50).

Larry currently serves on the Boards of the Information Technology Senior Management Forum, Nashville Technology Council, BDPA Education & Technology Foundation and the National Foundation for Teaching Entrepreneurship.